This is Afterschool in New Mexico

Afterschool Alliance

March 2020

After the school day ends in New Mexico, 1 in 5 kids are alone and unsupervised. These hours—from 2 to 6 p.m.—are the peak time for juvenile crime nationally according to the latest report by Fight Crime: Invest in Kids, a national organization of law enforcement leaders. Afterschool programs turn that time of risk into opportunity. They keep kids safe and help them realize their full potential. Nationwide, 9 in 10 adults say afterschool programs are important to their community, yet more than 19 million kids are waiting to get in.

Fortunately for the 70,841 children in afterschool programs in New Mexico, the hours after school are a time when programs help kids get excited about learning, attend school more often, get better grades, and build foundational skills, like communication, teamwork, and problem solving.

21st Century Community Learning Center grants are the only dedicated federal funding source that support local communities' afterschool and summer programs. Demand for programs is so great in New Mexico that 4 out of every 7 applications cannot be funded.

A 2019 evaluation of New Mexico's 21st CCLC programs by the New Mexico Public Education Department found that the programs had a positive impact on students' academic achievement. Among the students in the programs, 29% earned a full grade level increase and 49% of students who earned below a passing grade raised their grade by the end of the year. Additionally, 95% of students, family, and staff surveyed agreed that the program was of high quality.

21st Century Community Learning Centers

In New Mexico, 21st Century Community Learning Centers—local afterschool, before-school and summer learning programs that serve students attending high-poverty, low-performing schools—provide services for 10,924 kids and 92 communities.

In a nationwide study of students who regularly attend a Community Learning Center, teachers report that:

1 in 2

improved their math and Language Arts grades

More than 2 in 3

improved their homework completion and class participation

More than 3 in 5

improved their behavior in class

Community Learning Centers bring together diverse partners to meet community needs. A typical program receives $67,000 from partners to supplement its federal funding. Nationwide, partner contributions totaled more than $1 billion between 2006 and 2010.

A Lifeline for Working Families

Families across America report that the gap between work and school schedules can be up to 25 hours per week. Parents lose 8 days of work, and businesses lose up to $300 billion a year due to parental concerns about afterschool care.

- 75% of New Mexico parents say afterschool programs give them peace of mind.
- 75% of New Mexico parents agree afterschool programs help them keep their jobs.

Afterschool provides a solid return on investment. Research spanning several states shows that every $1 invested in afterschool programs saves at least $3 by:

- 1 Increasing kids' earning potential
- 2 Improving kids' performance at school
- 3 Reducing crime and juvenile delinquency

"I've very much fed off of the kindness I received from the group leaders at Boys & Girls Club. As a result, I'm probably going to be teaching and combining my love for music with my teaching. Afterschool is about having options and getting to experiment with all those different things to figure out what it is that you really want."
