

Expanding learning and supports for an equitable recovery

This is Afterschool in Alabama

 Afterschool Alliance April 2021

In Alabama, afterschool programs provide expanded learning opportunities to 82,574 students and are a lifeline for working families. In Alabama, 82% of parents report that all young people deserve access to quality afterschool and summer programs. Yet, too many kids in Alabama are being left out. In fact, for every child in an afterschool program, 4 more would participate if a program were available.

Helping young people learn, grow, and thrive

Students in afterschool programs in Alabama are:

-  Interacting with peers and building social skills 94%
-  Getting homework help 84%
-  Taking part in physical activities 87%

A 2018 evaluation of Alabama's 21st CCLC programs by the Truman Pierce Institute found that students regularly participating in programs with room for improvement saw academic and behavioral gains. Among regular program attendees in need of improvement, teachers report that most students improved their overall academic performance (81%), participation in class (81%), attentiveness in class (76%), and motivation to learn (75%).

Parents in Alabama agree that afterschool programs:

-  Provide opportunities to build life skills 81%
-  Get kids excited about learning 73%
-  Reduce the likelihood that youth will use drugs or engage in other risky behaviors 76%

Call and response: Afterschool programs stepping up during the pandemic

From the outset of the pandemic, afterschool programs have adapted and expanded their services to best meet the needs of the children and families they serve. The CARE Center in New Hope provided thousands of meals, as well as $14,000 to families who needed extra help to make monthly mortgage, rent, and utility payments. They distributed back-to-school supply backpacks and offered virtual tutoring and at-home STEAM activities. Tuscaloosa County Park and Recreation Authority offered virtual "active classrooms" to Tuscaloosa students, which included remote learning support time, physical activity, recess, group games, arts and crafts, and more.

A 2021 national survey of afterschool providers finds programs continue to provide:

Academic enrichment	94%
Time to interact with peers	86%
Physical activity	81%
Snacks or meals	77%
Check-ins with student and families	32%
In-person services during virtual school days*	24%

Looking toward the summer, 79% of providers will be offering summer programming.

21st Century Community Learning Centers

21st Century Community Learning Centers (21st CCLC) are local before-school, afterschool, and summer learning programs that serve students attending high-poverty, low-performing schools, engaging students in hands-on learning activities aimed at supporting their academic growth. They provide a variety of enrichment activities to complement school-day learning and offer educational and support services to the families of participating children.

In Alabama, 21,877 children in 69 communities take part in a Community Learning Center.

21st CCLC grants are the only dedicated federal funding source that support local communities' afterschool and summer programs. Demand for programs is so great in Alabama that 3 out of every 10 applications cannot be funded.

The 2020 Department of Education annual performance report of 21st CCLC found that among regular participants:

Nearly half improved their math (48%) and English grades (48%)

69% improved homework completion and class participation

62% improved their behavior

A lifeline for working families

A national survey of parents in the fall of 2020 found that as the pandemic continued to disrupt school schedules, most parents were concerned about their child's social and emotional well-being and connection to peers, as well as their own ability to continue to provide learning support and/or care for their child as virtual school and distance learning extends into 2021.

Based on the 2020 America After 3PM household survey, parents in Alabama agree that afterschool programs:

- Build positive relationships between children and adults 74%
- Keep kids safe and out of trouble 72%
- Help working parents keep their jobs 79%
- Provide working parents peace of mind 79%

A smart investment

Research spanning several states shows that every $1 invested in afterschool programs saves at least $3 by:

- 1 Increasing kids' earning potential
- 2 Improving kids' performance at school
- 3 Reducing crime and juvenile delinquency

Additionally, Community Learning Centers leverage diverse partners to meet community needs. A typical program receives $67,000 from partners to supplement its federal funding. Nationwide, partner contributions totaled more than $1 billion between 2006 and 2010.
