Afterschool Alliance Names Daniel Rosen of Citizen Schools Massachusetts One of Just 19 ‘Afterschool Ambassadors’ from Across Nation

Rosen Will Work in Massachusetts and Nationally to Expand Afterschool

Washington, DC – The Afterschool Alliance today announced the selection of Daniel Rosen, Alumni Services Manager of Citizen Schools to serve as a 2009-2010 Afterschool Ambassador. He is one of just 19 local leaders from 15 states selected for the honor this year. Each Ambassador will continue directing or supporting a local afterschool program while also serving a one-year Afterschool Ambassador term organizing public events, communicating with policy makers, and building support for afterschool programs.

“Quality afterschool programs keep kids safe, inspire them to learn, and help working families,” said Afterschool Alliance Executive Director Jodi Grant. “Americans strongly support afterschool programs but across the nation, we’re seeing programs cut back or closed in the face of recession-driven budget cuts. Dan brings energy and talent to the role of Afterschool Ambassador, and will spread the word about the urgent need to make afterschool programs available to all children and families that need them. I look forward to working with him to build even stronger support for afterschool among parents, business and community leaders, lawmakers, and the media. We are proud to have Dan on our team.”

“I’m delighted to have this wonderful opportunity to help secure the future of afterschool programs for kids and families in our community, and across the state and nation,” said Rosen. “I’m proud of the contribution afterschool programs make to the community, and look forward to helping expand support for them.”

Citizen Schools partners with 11 middle schools to expand the learning day for more than 1,000 low-income children across the state of Massachusetts. Citizen Schools mobilizes a second shift of afternoon educators, who provide academic support, leadership development and "apprenticeships"—hands-on projects taught by volunteers from business and civic organizations. At Citizen Schools, students develop the skills they need to succeed in high school, college, the workforce, and civic life. Daniel Rosen has worked for Citizen Schools for the last two years.

Each Ambassador will organize a major event for Lights On Afterschool, the Afterschool Alliance’s tenth annual nationwide series of rallies for afterschool, on October 22 this year. Last year, a million people rallied at 7,500 Lights On events. Despite overwhelming public support, and an agreement embodied in the No Child Left Behind Act to steadily increase federal funding, federal support for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers initiative – the principal federal funding stream for afterschool programs – has lagged far behind the need. The No Child Left Behind Act authorized $2.5 billion for afterschool this year, but funding is at less than half that level. Congress has not yet completed work on the education budget for Fiscal Year 2010.

Ambassadors will also work to share the results of the Afterschool Alliance's America After 3PM study. Released earlier this month, it found that percentage of Massachusetts children in afterschool programs increased to 18 percent, up from just 11 percent in 2004 – but 26 percent are responsible for taking care of themselves in the afternoons and another 13 percent are in the care of brothers or sisters. The survey was sponsored by the JCPenney Afterschool Fund. Complete results are available at www.afterschoolalliance.org.
