Afterschool Alliance Names – 4-H Afterschool’s Scott One of 18 ‘Afterschool Ambassadors’ from 15 States

Scott Will Work in Delaware and Nationally to Expand Afterschool

Washington, DC – The Afterschool Alliance today announced the selection of Carol Scott, Extension Educator with University of Delaware, New Castle County Cooperative Extension 4-H Afterschool programs, to serve as a 2008-2009 Afterschool Ambassador. She is one of just 18 local leaders from 15 states selected for the honor. Each Ambassador will continue directing or supporting a local afterschool program while also serving a one-year Afterschool Ambassador term organizing public events, communicating with policy makers, and building support for afterschool programs.

“Afterschool programs keep children safe, inspire them to learn, and help working families,” said Afterschool Alliance Executive Director Jodi Grant. “Americans strongly support afterschool programs but there aren’t nearly enough to meet the need, and rising fuel prices and tight budgets at all levels of government are putting financial pressure on the programs we have. In her work as an Afterschool Ambassador, Carol Scott will bring energy and talent to the task of spreading the word about the need to make afterschool programs available to all families that need them. I look forward to working with her to build support for afterschool among parents, business and community leaders, lawmakers, and the media. We are proud to have Carol on our team.”

4-H Afterschool trains staff and develops quality after-school programs where young people learn leadership, citizenship and life skills. In Delaware, the 4-H Afterschool program is a statewide leader in developing partnerships with schools and community organizations to provide afterschool and summer programs. On a daily basis, more than 400 elementary and middle school youth participate in 4-H afterschool programs featuring enrichment activities in science, technology, nutrition, fitness, and leadership. Scott has worked with the University of Delaware 4-H Youth Development program for seven years and shares her career-long experience in youth development programming as a member of the Delaware Afterschool Alliance.

Each Ambassador will plan a major event for Lights On Afterschool, the Afterschool Alliance’s October 16 nationwide rally for afterschool. Despite overwhelming public support, and an agreement embodied in the No Child Left Behind Act to steadily increase federal funding, federal support for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers initiative – the principal federal funding stream for afterschool programs – has lagged far behind the need. The No Child Left Behind Act authorized $2.5 billion for afterschool this year, but funding is at less than half that level. Congress has not yet completed work on the education budget for Fiscal Year 2009.

The 2008-2009 Afterschool Ambassadors are:

- CA, San Francisco: Jenny Arcilla-Gonzalez, Chinatown Beacon Center.
- CO, Denver: Melanie Haas, Colorado MESA (Mathematics, Engineering, Science Achievement).

This year’s Lights On Afterschool events will mark the end of a year-long celebration of the 10th anniversary of the 21st Century Community Learning Centers initiative. Last year, a million people rallied at 7,500 Lights On events to show their support for afterschool programs.

Afterschool programs offer young people safe, enriching, fun and engaging places to spend their afternoons. Youth in afterschool programs have been shown to perform better in school and have greater expectations for the future, while children who are unsupervised in the afternoons are at greater risk of becoming involved with crime, substance abuse and teenage pregnancy. A groundbreaking study conducted for the Afterschool Alliance in 2004 (with funding from the J.C. Penney Co., Inc.) concluded that 14.3 million latchkey children have no adult supervision in the afternoons and that the parents of 15.3 million children would send their child to an afterschool program if one were available.
