Surprise's Cassidy Chosen as One of Just 15 'Afterschool Ambassadors' in United States This Year

Mike Cassidy Will Work in Arizona and Nationally to Increase Access to Afterschool Programs

Washington, DC – The Afterschool Alliance today announced that Mike Cassidy, Youth Services Administrator at the City of Surprise Youth Services Division, has been selected to serve as a 2018-2019 Afterschool Ambassador. He is one of just 15 leaders in the country chosen for the honor this year, and one of two in Arizona. Each Afterschool Ambassador will continue leading a local afterschool program while also serving a one-year Afterschool Ambassador term, organizing public events, communicating with policy makers and in other ways growing awareness and support for afterschool and summer learning programs.

“We’re thrilled that Cassidy will serve as an Afterschool Ambassador this year,” said Afterschool Alliance Executive Director Jodi Grant. “Now more than ever, with federal funding for quality afterschool and summer learning programs under attack, we need strong advocates like him. He will mobilize parents, educators and business, community and faith leaders, among others, to help safeguard funding for the afterschool programs that keep kids safe, inspire them to learn and help give working families peace of mind. These programs offer hands-on learning opportunities, homework help, mentors, science and technology, healthy snacks and meals, sports and fitness, arts programming, college and job prep, and much more.”

“I couldn’t be more excited about this great opportunity to help build the afterschool movement,” said Cassidy. “I’ve been working in afterschool for 7 years, and I’ve seen afterschool change children’s lives – broadening horizons, connecting them to their communities, and to caring adults. I’m looking forward to an awesome year working to get the word out about all the great things happening in afterschool programs, here and across the state.”

The City of Surprise Youth Services Division offers a dynamic set of programs and initiatives designed to support academic success, workforce development, community service, and civic engagement in Surprise, Arizona. The division prioritizes youth autonomy, accountability, and horizontal leadership models, and believes that all youth have the ability to flourish if given the opportunity to develop the tools needed to be successful. Each year, its programs and initiatives serve over 3,500 youth receiving summer employment, community service opportunities, leadership training, academic support, job shadowing, mentorship, and more.

Each Ambassador will organize a major event for Lights On Afterschool, the Afterschool Alliance’s annual rally for afterschool, to be held on October 25 this year. Last year, 1 million people participated in some 8,000 Lights On Afterschool events across the United States and at U.S. military bases worldwide.

The America After 3PM household survey of more than 30,000 families, commissioned by the Afterschool Alliance, found that participation in afterschool programs has increased to 10.2 million students nationwide, up from 6.5 million in 2004. But the unmet demand for afterschool programs has increased as well. Today, for every child in an afterschool program, there are two more whose parents say they would participate, if a program were available. Unmet demand is especially high in rural communities and communities of concentrated poverty. One in five students in the United States today is unsupervised after the school day ends.

A large and growing body of evidence demonstrates improvements in attendance, behavior, academic achievement and more among children in afterschool programs. Researchers have also found that afterschool programs encourage increased parental involvement – an important building block for student success.
