

A Preview of Arizona Data from the America After 3 PM Household Survey on Afterschool

Care Arrangements: In the America After 3 PM survey, Arizona parents/guardians were asked about their children's regular participation in various afterschool care arrangements. (Note: Care arrangements add up to greater than 100% due to multiple regular care arrangements for many children.)

- While most Arizona children, 65%, spend some portion of the hours after school in the care of a parent or guardian, 30% of Arizona's K-12 youth are responsible for taking care of themselves. These children spend an average of more than 7 hours per week unsupervised after school.*
- In contrast, only 12% of Arizona's K-12 youth participate in afterschool programs. On average, afterschool participants spend 9 hours per week in afterschool programs. Participation averages 3.2 days per week for 2.1 hours per day.*
- Other care arrangements include traditional child care centers (10%), sibling care (11%) and non-parental adult care, such as a grandparent or neighbor (13%).

Need or Demand for Afterschool

- More than 27% of the K-12 youth in self-care would be likely to participate in an afterschool program if one were available in the community.*
- Similarly, 30% of all children not in afterschool would be likely to participate if an afterschool program were available in the community, regardless of their current care arrangement.

Satisfaction with Afterschool Programs

- Eighty-six percent of Arizona parents are extremely or somewhat satisfied with the afterschool program their child attends.*
- In Arizona, the top 3 reasons cited for selecting an afterschool program are affordability, child enjoyment, and convenient location.*
- Parents of non-participants believe that their children would benefit most from afterschool programs in the following ways: by having fun, academic enrichment, improved physical activity, improved social skills, and by staying safe and out of trouble.

Contextual Information about Afterschool Programs

- In Arizona, public schools are the largest provider of afterschool programs. YMCAs, Boys and Girls Clubs, and cities or towns are the other major providers of afterschool programs in the state.*
- On average, Arizona families spend $24 per week for afterschool programs.*

Findings from the America After 3 PM household survey are based on parent/guardian responses to survey questions about after school care arrangements during the 2002-2003 school year. GE Consumer Finance and RTi-DFD conducted the survey and analyzed the data for the Afterschool Alliance, with support from the JCPenney Afterschool Fund. A complete analysis of state-level data and a full report from the survey will be available later this year. National data and previews of state data are available at www.afterschoolalliance.org.
